Senior Officers

Due to the fine judgment of this semester's senior class in selecting for the executive department Maynard Cross, president; Howard Krouse, vice-president; Helen Meline, secretary; Charlotte Ortlund, treasurer; and Jacqueline Armstrong and Lynn Holstad, board members, the class activities have been very successfully carried out.

The senior class has conferred upon its most capable member, Maynard Cross, the highest honor that it is possible for it to give to any one of its members, that of president of the class, and wishes to express its appreciation for his able guidance.

Howard Cross, the vice-president, has supported and aided the president in the management of class affairs as well as he helped his team on the football field.

The capable secretary, Helen Meline, has shown us by her promptness, neatness, and accuracy in recording the affairs of the class what a great success she will make of any task that is set before her after her graduation.

In choosing Charlotte Ortlund for treasurer, the senior class showed that it recognized her dependability and accuracy. During the year she has more than proved that she was worthy of this trust.

The board members, Jacqueline Armstrong and Lynn Holstad, were very willing and efficient in their assistance of the other officers.

The senior class chose its officers wisely and could be nothing but pleased at the way they directed the class through a successful year.

East high school is now almost seventy years old, and each year has been filled with events both common-place and unusual. The record of the beginning of the school and its growth and development makes a history which is indeed interesting.

We can best tell of the origin of East high from the proceedings of the school board which reads as follows: "In order to provide for a more perfect establishment of a high school in East Des Moines, the School Board in November, 1865, appointed the following committee, viz: Honorable James Wright, William Matthews, and D. E. Jones, to draw up and report a plan or course of study for said school.

"We would state that it is the sincere desire and wish of the Board, as this school is now organized upon a solid basis, that the people of East Des Moines be requested to unite with us in sustaining it by a generous support.

"We would recommend as a standard of admission to the high school that each applicant be required to spell and read well, and write a fair hand, understand the rules of arithmetic so far as to solve questions in fractions, must understand descriptive geography, and be able to define the parts of speech and analyze plain English sentences.

"We further recommend that females entering the high school be permitted (at their own option) to substitute for geometry, trigonometry, and survey, drawing, music, and other branches suitable for young ladies such as French, German, or Latin.

"We would further recommend that an examining committee of the board be appointed consisting of not less than three persons, assisted by the principal of said school, to meet all pupils desiring admission to the high school for examination, at such time and place as may hereafter be agreed upon; at which time certificates of admission will be given to all applicants found qualified.

"We would beg leave to recommend the use of Eaton's Grammar Arithmetic instead of both Ray's Practical and Higher, believing that the pupil will acquire as much knowledge of arithmetic from the study of one sooner than the two. We are, however, at the same time, opposed to the frequent change of text books."

East High was first held in the Bryant Building which was then the only school in East Des Moines. There was only one teacher and less than twenty pupils. In 1871 the first class graduated—only one member, Miss Elizabeth Mathews, comprising the class roll. Not until 1875 were any more pupils graduated.

As the city grew larger in population, larger buildings were necessary. The high school was first moved to the third floor of the Webster Building in the fall of 1877. But there were still no laboratories, gymnasium, cafeteria, or anything but books and desks. In one end of the large room they spread mats and hung some rings, and this they called the gym.

There were three small recitation rooms on the same floor where different classes could be conducted at the same time. In 1888, as the school had grown so much that there was not room on this floor, the freshman class was moved back to the Bryant Building. Two years later the sophomore class had to be conducted on another floor at Webster because of the increased enrollment.

The early principals who served East high were William H. Dixson, Isaac L. Hillis, Franc B. Taylor, John W. Wolfe, and Hermann Martin.

From 1885 to 1935 the principals have served in the following order:

Frank Plummer	1885-1891
Elmer E. White	1891-1901
Miss May Goodrell	1901-1918
Mr. A. J. Burton	1918-1934
Mr. O. G. Prichard	1934-

No history of East high school would be complete without the mention of the name of Miss May Goodrell. She has been a friend of East high for many years and helped to promote many of its biggest projects. The most credit for the erection of the present building is due to Miss Goodrell.

She was graduated from East high in 1877. She served her Alma Mater as a teacher from 1888 to 1901. Her greatest achievement came when she served as principal of East high from 1901 to 1918. She has been president of the Alumni Association from 1918 to the present time. East high school will always owe Miss May Goodrell a debt of gratitude for her many untold services which she rendered to East high school and its pupils.

In the spring of 1891 a new East high was completed containing laboratories and many other rooms that were to become sewing rooms, cooking rooms, auditorium, and cafeteria. The superintendent of schools had his office on the first floor, while the training school for primary teachers was held in the basement. The students were very proud to have such a fine school and in a gay procession, led by the freshman class and their director, Miss Goodrell, went to occupy it. In this school, which was located at East 12th and Court Avenue, the enrollment grew from about 200 to more than 700.

In 1907 a very important change was made in the school system. Capital Park, which for years had a separate organization, was merged into the greater Des Moines system along with the East Des Moines Organization. Then the Capital Park high school was discontinued, and its pupils went either to East high or to West high.

About 1901 the first step was taken toward obtaining a new building. The Board of Directors of the old school district of East Des Moines had purchased of the state of Iowa, at an expense of $8,000, a square of ground bounded by East 13th, Walker, and Maple Streets. As this furnished a good site for the new building, it was decided that it should be erected there.

Ground for the building was broken September 6, 1910, by Miss May Goodrell, principal of East high school at that time, who dug the first spade-full of dirt. The students of the school, feeling that they must have some part in the activities pulled the first plow.

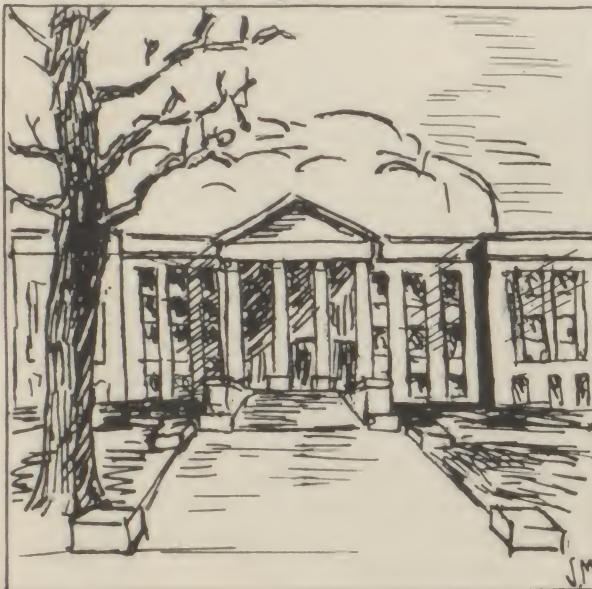

The cornerstone of our present building was laid January 18, 1911, by Miss Goodrell, principal. The material which was to be placed in the stone was first placed in a large copper box. A few of the thirty-eight articles which were placed in the corner stone were:

1. A copy of the Bible.
2. An American silk flag.
3. Both football extras announcing East high's victories.
4. Three phonograph records of East high's songs and yells.
5. A lump of charcoal, souvenir of the bonfire on the square celebrating the success of the bond issue.
6. A list of all the graduates of East high.
7. A copy of the Des Moines plan of government.
8. Last commencement numbers of the Quill and three others.
9. An East high school pennant.
10. A cut of the new building.
11. Pictures of Bryant and Webster schools.
12. A picture of old East high.
13. A return slip, tardy card, warning card, and an admit card.
14. A history of the struggle for the new building.

Finally on May 17, 1912, after many trials and hardships the pupils and teachers marched triumphantly to the new school. Because the new school had cost so much, $400,000, it was impossible to have it furnished that spring.

For this reason the entire student body turned out with vehicles of every description to carry desks, chairs, and waste-paper baskets from the old school to their new East high. A parade was formed by the students who marched to the new building, led by the G. A. R. Drum Corps of Kinsman Post No. 7. The students were enthusiastic over reciting lessons within three hours from the time the moving began.

The next autumn East high school was dedicated and several days were spent in celebration. Each year on the Friday nearest May 17th an anniversary assembly is held.

The building is constructed of Bedford limestone in classical style. The front entrance is patterned after the north portico of the Erechtheum; the northeast door is taken from the Choragic Monument of Lysicrates; the northwest from the Tower of the Wind; the southwest from the Parthenon; and the east from the Temple to Hephaestus. Throughout the entire building the simplicity of the classic style has been a great factor in making every student feel that there can be no school more beautiful than their own dear East high. The greatest credit for the style and harmony of the building is due to J. A. McKinney, who was president of the school board at that time.

The motto "For the Service of Humanity" over the front entrance was submitted by Charles A. Cumming in a contest held for that purpose. When he refused to accept the reward, he proved that he truly wanted to live up to his motto. This motto is also used on all class rings and pins.

In memory of the East high school boys who lost their lives in the World War, East high students planted trees on the campus. This was to be a living tribute to their memory. Every year the day before Memorial Day the students hold an assembly in order that they may do reverence to those who paid the supreme sacrifice for their country, that of giving their lives.

East high boasts a bit of one of the greatest of our modern seats of learning. The senior class of 1915 planted an ivy plant at the front of the building during the third anniversary program. The ivy was sent from Cambridge, Massachusetts, by Vincent Starzinger, then a student at Harvard University.

The interest of East students in athletics has always been very keen, but until 1893 baseball was the chief sport. This game became less popular, however, when track and football were begun in 1894, pushing the game of baseball into the background. A year after these two athletic divisions were inaugurated, an association was formed, and the first track meet was held, the participants in which were the four Des Moines high schools—East, West, North and Capitol Park.

The trophy of the meet, a silver cup, went to East high. Any school that won the cup three consecutive years was allowed to keep the symbol of honor. The following two years East was the victor, and this trophy found a permanent position in the school.

Football was not common at this time, and few boys knew the fundamentals of the game. Burdair Hartung, who had a football used for Rugby by the students of 1887, learned the game of football and taught it to some of his classmates who then organized a team. Football was adopted as a school sport through the efforts of Miss Millicent Cuplin, a mathematics teacher in East high in 1894. In that year, with Will Chase as captain, East played six games, losing only one. With this promising football team springing up, it was decided that school colors were needed. A committee which was chosen from the East High Athletic Association, then newly formed, selected Scarlet and Black. These were the colors of Grinnell College which was an outstanding school for its fighting spirit.

Need for the development of a higher type of sportsmanship was seen as the football games sometimes ended in a free-for-all. Realizing this, Sidney A. Foster in 1904 offered the Foster Trophy to the Des Moines high school that won the city championship three years in succession. At the same time the pupils must conduct themselves in an orderly and friendly manner towards the opposing teams. East high won this trophy, an American flag, in 1910. A full-sized silver football, the Garver Trophy was won during the same year.

The pupils had much difficulty in finding a suitable athletic field. For a while they used the "shed," which was placed at our present tract of ground, for a gymnasium. But when they built the new school there was no place to practice football and basketball. An old cemetery (at East 18th and Maple Streets) was leased and converted into the athletic field we now enjoy. The tiling and grading cost approximately $2800. and the senior class bought the bleachers with money obtained from a special benefit. The school board, convinced that this was a worthy project, contributed a fence—and the "Alumni Field," dedicated by a large bonfire and speeches, was complete.

The students then expressed the wish that George Garton, Fred Van Liew, Clark Beard, and J. A. McKinney should always have free admission to the field because of their untiring efforts in securing it.

Although football has been a favorite sport with many students, teachers, and outsiders. East high has also won many honors in other forms of athletic work, such as track, basketball, golf, and swimming.

A trophy case was placed in the front hall in the spring of 1923 in order that the students might have a suitable place in which to place their trophies. At that time the case contained twenty-three trophies, and there were about thirty-five more for which there was no room. We now have a second trophy case which is also in the front corridor.

No reference to athletic contests would be complete without the mention of the spirited singing and cheering by those attending the games, and which is manifested at our most enthusiastical-ly attended "pep" assemblies. Two of the favorite yells in 1893 and 1894 were:

"Ricka--Chicka--Boom!
Ricka--Chicka--Boom!
Ricka--Chicka--Ricka-
Chicka--Boom!
Boom! Boom!
Whoop La Re!
Whoop La Ray!
East Des Moines High School!—I. O. A."

Rah! Rah! Rah!
She is best!
Maxima! Maxima!
E. H. S."

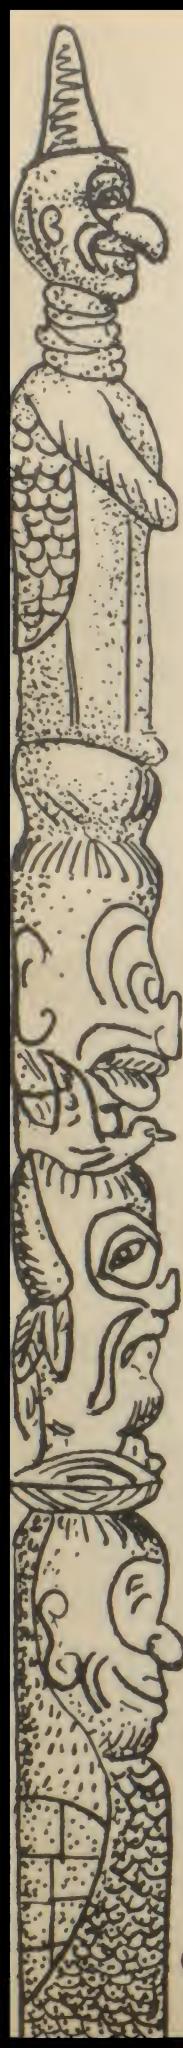

The school song was written by Velda Wilburn in the year of 1920.

"Dear East High, you are the school for me;
You will always win the victory.
Red and Black, to you we'll be true,
And we will bring great honor to you.
Hip-hooray, here's to the Black and Red,
O'er the world your fame is widely spread.
Onward we will do or die,
For Dear East High!"

The curriculum grew as fast as the enrollment. The subjects offered were quite different from the first course. Different languages besides Latin were introduced into the curriculum—German in 1903, Spanish in 1915, and French in 1918. The study of German was discontinued during the World War but has since been resumed.

The first record of any student enrolled in music courses is found in 1885-6. Although a Girls' Glee Club was organized as an extra-curricular activity in 1908, groups of this type were not included in the regular curriculum until 1919.

Three four-year courses were offered in 1908—Latin, scientific, and business. Every student was required to complete four years of English, three years of mathematics, and two and one-half years of history. In addition, the requirements of the respective courses were: Latin—four years; science—three years and an extra year of mathematics; and business—commercial geography, bookkeeping, commercial law, and stenography. Students were allowed to elect subjects in the third and fourth years only.

When manual training was introduced into the school in 1908, Miss Goodrell made the following report to Mr. W. O. Riddell, superintendent of schools: "We are gratified that manual training has been added to the course in East high. I have waited long for this and have asked for it several times in the past seven years."

In the same year, in a report in connection with the beginning and development of cooking classes in the school, Miss Goodrell said: "It was this desire that our school keep abreast of the times in providing means for the more practical side of education, that led us four years ago, to begin a series of cooking demonstrations once a week for all girls who desired to attend. The effort was materially assisted by the kindness of Mr. Jansen Haines of the Des Moines Gas Company, in donating a stove for our use. The demonstrations were given after school hours in the afternoon, and the expenses were met by the proceeds of entertainments. The interest was so great and the course so successful that it was repeated the next year. The third year a slight change in the arrangements was made. Mr. Haines, continuing his interest and extending his kindness, donated the services of Mrs. Sarah Wharton Moore, demonstrator for the gas company and met all expenses of the demonstrations. The past year we have enjoyed the privilege of Mrs. Moore's services, the school, however, meeting the other expenses."

As early as 1885

the records indicate classes in elocution, but debating, oratory, and other forms of dramatic expression, which have been popular forms of extra-curricular activities since about 1901, are not incorporated into the school curriculum yet. However, there are classes in public speaking and dramatics for which credit is given.

The recent development of such courses as printing, art, journalism, physical education, home planning, auto mechanics, and landscaping now make it possible for every pupil to take the subjects for which he is best fitted.

As a closely united, friendly group, the students of East high have always enjoyed many unique experiences of school life which are very interesting, such as assemblies, contests, athletics, and clubs. It is these many and varied activities which make school more pleasant and more worth while.

For many years clubs have played a very important part in the school life of every active student. The first formal club organization was the Boys' Debating Society, which was recommended by Miss Goodrell in 1901. The meetings were held monthly, formal debating being developed. The first debate, which was with North high, resulted in a victory for East. Only sophomore boys were permitted to join this society.

The next club which lived any time at all was the Bible Club for boys, organized December, 1915, with 30 members present for the opening meeting. This club met once a week during the 7th period with Mr. Wilson.

The Bicycle Club was the girls' organization and was a source of many jolly times for the members. Many other clubs have been organized since then, changing from year to year as the students became interested in new subjects. In general, clubs serve as a means of bringing students to gether and of teaching them to be leaders in their line of interest.

During the World War, special time was given for the students to do their share of war-work. This consisted of sewing, knitting, cooking, and collecting books for the soldiers. They made candy and pop corn balls for the soldiers at Camp Dodge.

A standard emblem for the senior rings and pins had been long talked of in East high. A decision was reached in 1921, when the senior class voted unanimously for a uniform motto. The school was then given the chance to vote on the matter. It was found that 2,065 were for and 32 were against a standard design for senior pins and rings. Therefore, the student council and the senior class in the fall of 1921 asked the students to co-operate in designing a standard design. From the large number of designs submitted, that of Eugene Gray was chosen by a vote of the student body. This one was considered the best suited since he used the oak leaf as the motif in recognition of the admiration that East high students have for the native oaks on their campus.

One of the first arrivals in the shape of a souvenir of the New East high was a spoon. The handle of this spoon contained a picture of the new building.

When Miss Goodrell was graduated in 1877, she conceived the idea of an Alumni Association and assisted in its organization. At first meetings were held annually, but now since 2 classes are graduated each year, meetings are held semi-annually. Many of the graduates belong to the Alumni Association and renew, year after year, their interest in their classmates and demonstrate their loyalty to East high.

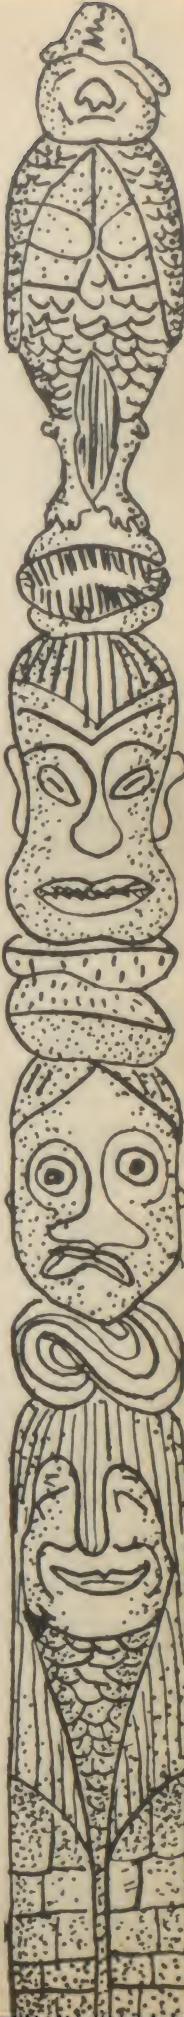

This association in 1922 placed in the front hall bronze tablets dedicated to the former students of East high who were eligible for the American Legion. They must have, too, completed at least one semester in East high. The financing of this plan was done by $350 in Liberty Bonds and $384 which was contributed by the alumni.

The Quill, a student publication, was started in the spring of 1905 by Miss Mary Estelle Patterson. Two numbers were issued during the last part of that year. The next year, the infant paper having been placed on its feet, it was able to become a regular monthly magazine. A magazine was published every month during the school year except September. In order to decrease expenses during the World War the magazine was changed to a quarterly. September, 1917. In addition to this, a bi-weekly newspaper was published under the name of the Quillette. This lived only a year, but since that time, the Quill has continued as a quarterly until 1930 when it became a semi-annual. It records as far as possible all the events which are significant in the growth and progress of East high. Students who work on the Quill staff are chosen from the upper group of the Senior English classes. The name "Quill" was suggested by Miss Frances Church, who was a teacher of chemistry and mathematics at East high.

The "Latinus Nuntis," or Latin Messenger, was a Latin paper edited by Miss Estelle Wood's two Caesar classes in 1919. The paper which was published every week, was edited by alternating classes. It contained jokes, current events, editorials, etc., all of which were printed in Latin.

The Scroll, a bi-weekly newspaper named by Leonard Schappaugh, started its publication in the fall of 1930 under the direction of Mr. Kenneth Stratton. Pupils are not allowed to serve on the Scroll staff until they have taken one semester of journalism. The editor-in-chief is usually appointed to his position on the basis of time he has been on the staff. Credit is given for serving one semester on the staff, after which, the pupil if he wishes to serve on the staff, must do so without getting a grade or credit.

Forensics began its career in East high in 1902 when Mr. Brown, who was then attending East high, and a few other admirers of Cicero, established an organization known as the "Boys' Debating Society of East High School." This constituted the debating team for the school. The same year this debating team won its first victory from West high school. From then on it started its long series of East high victories. Prior to 1910 the teams from East had been defeated only twice.

Every school has its own customs and traditions, and East high is not one to be left out. Many of those which were observed have been dropped a long time ago. The oldest one which is on file is the one in which the pupils of the graduating class were required to read their final themes before the school. They were read during the last two or three weeks of the semester. The themes covered a wide range of subjects from ancient times up to more modern times.

Another custom, which was thrown aside many years ago, was that of having an open night. The first one was held Friday, October 2, 1908. The purpose of this was to get acquainted with the freshmen and to let the freshmen get acquainted with East. The first part of the evening was taken up in viewing the stereoptican pictures which were loaned to East by the Northern Pacific Railway Company. Following this the girls of the domestic science department served ice cream in the recitation rooms. Open Night was held every month for several years.

For many years it was a custom for the senior boys to take the women of the faculty for an extended automobile ride. This usually ended up in a picnic supper. The senior boys did this to prove their loyalty to the women of the faculty.

A spelldown before the seniors graduated was a very popular custom in East high. Anyone could volunteer to spell against the seniors. There were usually about 18 or 20 contestants on each team.

Pupils used to vie for honors in order that they might have the front seat in assembly during their senior year. This honor was given to the senior who had the highest average during the previous semester.

Every year the students of East rededicate themselves to the ideals of East high school by repeating the pledge which was made by students at the dedicatory exercise February 21, 1913. The seniors usually have charge of this program, which is held out of doors if the weather permits. This program is held on the Friday nearest May 17. The pledge with which the students of East high rededicate themselves is as follows:

"At the threshold of this door of new and wider experiences and opportunities, let us pledge the future to a democracy of culture that fits for higher thinking and nobler living. In this spirit, and with a realization of our opportunity, we, the students of East high, dedicate this building and the efforts of our lives 'For the Service of Humanity.' "

Each year new monitors, whose duties are to keep order in the halls during class time and to see that visitors are guided to the desired places, are chosen. Until 1935 those wishing to serve as monitors were requested to fill out blanks. A committee then appointed the monitors from this group. A new system was tried in 1935 whereby the teachers whose classrooms were located on the corners were to appoint the monitors.

The student council, a governing body made up of representatives from the home rooms, was introduced into East high in 1919 at the suggestion of the principal, Mr. A. J. Burton. The members of this very important group in school life are usually leaders in the school. Different problems and suggestions for improvements are discussed and settled at these meetings.

Until 1931 members of the senior classes who were outstanding scholars were presented with honoraria, but since that year East high has been a member of the National Honor Society. Each semester a group of students from the senior class is selected for membership for excellence in leadership, scholarship, character, and service.

The material for this history was drawn from school records and reports and from interviews with Miss May Goodrell, former principal of the school. The research and first writing were done by the following senior students: Betty Anderson, Barbara Bitting, Eskil Garanson, Inez Goughnour, Julia Hayden, Helen Marie Larson, Charles Proctor, Helen Maxine Robinson, and Fern Smith.

The faculty committee in charge of compiling the history are Miss Grace Gabriel, chairman, Miss Christine Balliet, Miss Mary Estelle Patterson, Mr. D. O. Wilson, Mr. A. G. Hostetter, Miss Sara McBride, Mr. Wm. Lyman, Miss Harriet Macy, and Miss Sarah Wickware.

The history of East High School in the future is now in the making. Students of the Lee Township senior high have many more opportunities than those of fifty years ago. The general curriculum is greatly expanded to meet the needs of young people of today. As the years roll on, new needs will arise and the parents and administrators will make changes that no one of the present time realizes will take place.

Certain it is that the coming generations in our school have a rich heritage of that famous East spirit that will bring many victories and many achievements of which we shall all be proud.

NEW VICTORY SONG

We want a touchdown
Hear 'em sing we want a touchdown
That's the thing.
Just let some great big bruiser husky and tall
Carry the ball,
In no time at all
We'll have a touchdown.
When it's over let us hear you make some noise

V-I-C-T-O-R-Y

Let's have a touchdown boys—

SCHOOL SONG

Dear East High, you are the school for me,
You will always bring a victory.
Red and Black, to you we'll be true,
And we will bring great honor to you,
Hip Hooray, here's to the Black and Red!
O'er the world your fame is widely spread;
Onward we will do or die
For Dear East High.

TEN YEARS HENCE

Returning to Des Moines after a period of ten years, I entered the Aronow and Olson Department Store. Just inside the door I noticed Pauline Weissinger clerking at the notion counter. As I looked around, Miriam Nutt stepped from the elevator and stopped to talk to me.

She told me that Wayne Hardin and Howard Krouse of our old senior class had formed a partnership, employing Alice Brough and Gladys Randolph as nurses, and Ruth Turnell as secretary. I asked her about some of the other East high graduates of the 1936 class and learned that Trena Reid had been admitted to the bar and had been very successful in her cases.

It nearly slayed me when I learned that James Ball, whose genius went unrecognized in high school, had had his first book of poetry published and it had been received favorably by the critics. Miriam stated she had spent the last three years in Europe, returning only last month.

The following are a few interesting points about her trip—Max Kreutz, the golden-throated American songster, was running a theatrical engagement at Berlin; Wava Dean was studying art in Florence, Italy; Willis Roorda was the American consul at Paris; Margaret Adams was an American correspondent in London; Madeline Berkemann was star reporter on the London Daily; Paul Kessler was captain on a liner of the Aschim and Prince Company.

Marian Atherton, the world famous aviatrix, was visiting in Athens; and Wayne Pittman was leaving Naples to join Ray Ridenour, Wendell Suddeth, Warren Williams, Charles Beener, and Donald Jones in Africa for an extensive elephant hunt. At this point Miriam explained that she had an appointment with the dietician, Virginia Hoffman, and so we parted.

Who do you think was waiting for the elevator? None other than my old pal, Shirley Moore, on her way to see Madame Sylvia Scharnweber and her partner Geraldine Patrick in their new dress shoppe on the fifth floor. Upon entering the elevator, I pondered over the appearance of the operator. Then suddenly I realized that she was Julia Starkweather.

She left me on the fifth floor with instructions to be sure and visit the twentieth floor radio station where I would be certain to meet several old classmates. After my engagement, I visited the radio station EHS, broadcasting on 1936 kilocycles. At the particular moment I entered the studio, a mixed quartet was singing the theme song of the Aronow and Olson Store. I recognized Bob Allender, Letha Noah, Cecil Surber, and Barbara Lundgren.

After such a sample, what could one do but stay and look for more? Suddenly I was asked to either be seated or leave the studio. On looking up I saw the stern face of William Arland, the studio attendant. I sat down just as Lee Dailey, the studio star comedian, began his part of the broadcast.

This was soon finished, and a play starring Lynn Holstad, Bette Jones, Dorothy McGlothlen, and Margaret Smith was given. Marguerite Sargent then gave her weekly talk on the home and its management. At the close of the day I headed for home with happy thoughts of yesterday.

MR. PRICHARD

MR. WILLIAMS

MISS HELMREICH

MR. O. G. PRICHARD

If any organization is to run smoothly, it must have someone to supervise its affairs. This task is capably handled at East High School by our principal, Mr. Prichard. Mr. Prichard's friendly smile and interested attitude have made him a favorite among the students. There has never been a more enthusiastic booster for our activities, and all of our enterprises have been successful because of his wise guidance. We feel sure that with Mr. Prichard at its head, East High will continue to be one of the most outstanding schools in the country.

MR. D. Q. WILLIAMS

East High's vice principal, Mr. Williams, has a friendly attitude and manner which have made him highly admired and respected by the entire student body. His close contact with boys has enabled him to have a genuine understanding of boys and their problems, which has undoubtedly proved a great influence on the lives of many. We wish Mr. Williams continued success in his important office.

MISS AGNES HELMREICH

Miss Helmreich, our girls' advisor, has the admiration of the entire school. Her long contact with girls has made her very sympathetic and understanding, and her pleasing personality and ready encouragement have been an inspiration to many girls. She is always happy about our successes and ready to help in our failures. East High without Miss Helmreich would not be East High.

National Honor Society

The National Honor Society is based on the four principles: Scholarship, Leadership, Character, and Service. The purpose of the society is to create enthusiasm for scholarship, to stimulate a desire to render service, to promote worthy leadership, and to develop character.

To belong to this society a student must have an outstanding record in one of these fields and a recommendation by several members of the faculty. Only the upper third of the graduating class and the 12-B class according to scholarship ranking are eligible for membership. Each semester fifteen percent of the 12-A's and ten percent of the 12-B's are elected. Seniors nominate candidates, and the teachers pass their judgment on the names submitted. Membership in this society is the greatest honor conferred by East High upon its students.

The emblem of the National Honor Society is the keystone, bearing on its face the letters C. S. L. and S, representing the four principles named above, and the flaming torch. The colors are blue of the blue heavens symbolizing truth, and gold, the blazing gold of the sun symbolizing light.

The present officers of East High's Chapter of the Honor Society are Maynard Cross, president; Margaret Adams, vice president; Evelyn Brustman, secretary; and Edna Knudsen, treasurer. This organization is under the helpful and inspirational guidance of Miss Barge and Mr. Wilson, the faculty advisors.

The theme of this year's banquet was the "opening of cocoons." In the past years the seniors have been under the guidance and influence of the school and home. Now they are ready to literally open their cocoons and find their places in the world. The theme was carried out through speeches and decorations.

Meetings of the Honor Society are called at irregular intervals, whenever necessary business comes up.

It is the firm desire of every student to attain the goal of membership in the National Honor Society.

Quill Staff

The members of the Quill staff, who are chosen from the senior English classes by the English department, meet the last hour to edit the Quill in room 218 under the supervision of Mr. Kenneth Stratton.

This staff, which consists of thirteen members, is headed by Margaret Adams, editor-in-chief, with the assistance of Willis Roorda, associate editor. The 12-A members are given charge of the various departments which they edit with the aid of the 12-B members who work in their choice department. It is the duty of the members to observe closely the functions of East High School and choose those events for publication which will prove most interesting to the students.

Volunteer members of the salesmanship classes make up the advertisement staff for the Quill. Under the guidance of Mr. Leslie Olsen, Quill business manager, and Mr. V. E. Lindsey, advertising campaign director, this staff works out a chart allotting specific divisions of the city to each member. Through hard work and perseverance the members obtain advertising from the more desirable business establishments in Des Moines. By work of this sort, the students get practical experience in salesmanship and secure finances which are necessary to defray the expense of publication.

Because this is not a regular class for which credit is given, membership on the staff is classed as an extra-curricular activity.

Peg O' My Heart

"Peg O' My Heart," a rollicking, three-act comedy by J. Hartley Manners, was presented November 22 and 23, under the able direction of Miss Helen Woodman, dramatics instructor.

Peg, a fun-loving Irish girl, was brought to her aunt's home in England by her deceased uncle's attorney. According to the uncle's will, her aunt, for a large sum of money, was to educate Peg, and teach her refined ways. Her aunt's family disliked Peg intensely, and Peg's life with them was quite a hardship. Amidst laughter, tears, and romance, Peg moved from one complication to another, finally winning the affection of the family and the love of an English nobleman.

Leading roles were taken by Nedra McCall, as Peg; Evelyn Graves, as Mrs. Chichester, Peg's aunt; Dale Smith, as Alaric, Mrs. Chichester's son, a typical English gentleman, monocle, tweeds, and all; Bette Jones, as Ethel, Mrs. Chichester's daughter; and Lynn Holstad, as Jerry, the nobleman who fell in love with Peg. Smaller, but well-acted parts were taken by John Gaskell, as the butler; Dorothy McGlothen, as the maid; Robert Aiken, as Christian Brent; and Charles Sayre, as the attorney. Margaret Smith was assistant to the director.

Miss Macy and the art department co-operated in the designing of sets, and Mr. Hammond and a selected group of boys were in charge of the stage.

Clubs

The BRUSH and PALETTE CLUB, sponsored by Miss Macy, gives the artists an opportunity to develop their skill by individual projects. Its officers are Loretta Caplan, president; Maurine Meeker, vice president; Helen Halverson, secretary-treasurer.

The COSMOPOLITAN CLUB, under the sponsorship of Miss Merrill, has as its purpose the promotion of world friendship. The officers consist of Juanita Allen, president; Opal Christianson, vice president; Ellen Gustafson, secretary; Mary Bevan, treasurer.

The German Club, DIE DEUTSCHE GESELLSCHAFT, is under the leadership of Dana Buckles, president; George Pilkington, vice president; Barbara Nichols, secretary; and Margaret Parkeson, treasurer. Organized by Miss Wickware to aid German Students.

The EL CIRCULO ESPANOL, the Spanish club, studies the language and customs of Spain with the aid of Miss Balliet, advisor. The officers are Juanita Patterson, president; Joe Foreli, vice president; Isabel Danskin, secretary-treasurer.

Pep Assemblies

The first East High Pep assembly of the year! On the stage the famous "Red" Grange, the Galloping Ghost of the Gridiron and Coach "Vee" Green of Drake! Led by our cheerleaders the surging, irresponsible PEP of which only East High is capable sent our team on to a victory from Valley Junction.

Then, after a week of peace and quiet (we all had sore throats) there was another ear-splitting, roof-raising pep assembly at which "Dutch" Reagan, popular sports announcer and former football star, gave us an excellent sample of his best work in a rousing football talk.

On the day of the East-Lincoln football game East High was host to Arden McClain, Lincoln's football coach; Aaron Hutchins, vice-principal of Lincoln; Pete Welsh of the city council; and the Lincoln High cheerleaders. With the Lincoln boys to spur us on, we are proud to announce that, on that day, we broke a world-wide record. Not only did the walls bulge, but also all the windows were broken.

With such alumni as Harold Guy, Lawrence Redrick, Vane Overturff, Dale Bassett and Johnny Elliott in charge, any assembly is bound to be good. Dale Bassett was an amusing master of ceremonies and Johnny Elliott imitated an amateur (a very amateur) magician. Assisted by a clever line of patter and those two well-known he-men (ahem), Chandler Olson, and Marion Kloster, he made a big hit.

Because of the influence of Mr. Lytton, business manager at Drake and an East High alumnus, three students from the Haskell Institute at Lawrence, Kansas, presented a novel program at East High. Announced by Mr. Turby of Drake and a member of the Haskell faculty these Indian youths, dressed in buckskin dungarees, moccasins, feathered head-dresses, and blankets entertained us with three dances. Other guests at this unusual assembly were Gus Rump, football coach of Roosevelt; Mr. Battrick, vice-principal of Roosevelt; and the Roosevelt cheerleaders.

A clever skit presented by five 10-B girls was the first number on the North High assembly program. We were also entertained with an accordian solo by Joe Sanotte and with a song by the East High girls' sextette. Guest speakers from North High included Mr. Thompson, principal; Mr. Johnson, coach; and the North High captains and cheerleaders. The principal speaker was Mr. Hoyt, who is now principal of Amos Hiatt Junior High School, but who we feel will always belong to East High.

The pep assemblies were excellently planned by various committees of the faculty. We feel that a large part of the spontaneous success of the assemblies was due to the contagious "Pep" of the cheerleaders and the whole-hearted cooperation of the students. The pep assemblies were, perhaps, the best liked of all the assemblies by the student body, for at them they were allowed—even encouraged—to make as much noise as they pleased (an infrequent privilege). It was always with reluctance that the students returned to their classes after an East High pep assembly.

Student Council

The student executive body of East High school is composed of one member from each home room. This body is the Student Council whose purpose it is to initiate and carry out plans and projects which advance the welfare of our school.

This semester our Council was under the efficient leadership of Frank Kennedy; Wayne Hardin, vice president; and Marguerite Sargent, secretary. Mr. Prichard, Miss Helmreich, and Mr. Williams are the advisors of this organization.

This semester the student council has been very effective and the results are quite satisfactory. They carried on several campaigns, established the "Moment of silence" in the cafeteria and held "Courtesy week" in the attempt to better the character of the student body.

The Council is divided into fourteen committees, and every member of the organization is a member of one committee.

This semester for the first time a citywide Student Council convention was held. This meeting was November 15 at Roosevelt High, and East had about twenty representatives attending. At the convention a forum was held, at which time a talk was given on the Importance of Student Council by Mr. N. H. Weeks, principal of Lincoln High.

Later in the evening round table discussions on various subjects were held so that the members could learn the different methods used in the other three schools.

The first campaign sponsored by the council was for the Scroll. Some time later a campaign for securing bundles for the Co-operative Thrift Shop was carried on, and some five thousand five hundred bundles were given by the students of this school.

As the production of the fall play neared, the council turned its attention to a campaign for the sale of tickets for this play. Once more with fine cooperation from the student body the council sponsored a successful campaign.

The East High gridiron warriors started the season by defeating Valley Junction 7-0.

Though this was a good start for the season, East as usual carried a schedule which included some of the strongest teams in the state, and in their second tiff were overcome by Oskaloosa 13-7.

The next week end East journeyed to Davenport only to be defeated in a fiercely-fought battle by the score 31-0.

The following Friday night, after a week of hard work, the boys made a good showing by defeating the Lincoln Railsplitters 19-13.

On the next Friday night East met the Roughriders from Roosevelt and their third defeat. Though the home team played a fine game with Krouse and Prince leading, they ended up on the light end of the score 13-0.

On October 26 our boys entertained the Mohawk eleven from Mason City. With Stoecker leading their attack the visitors played real football and thus by an advantage in weight and experience they defeated a hard-fighting, loyal East High team by a score of 13-7. Here again the fine passing combination of Prince and McGlothlen clicked for the Scarlet Warriors' only tally. The offensive work of Prince and the defensive work of Frank Stewart stood out for East High.

What a game! What a team! In a game that resulted in the biggest upset of the season East defeated the Little Hawkeyes from Iowa City 8-7. Though Iowa City was unbeaten and the team much heavier, the spunk of our boys won for us the game. By blocking a punt behind the visitors' goal and scoring a touchdown on a plunge from the 7 yard line by Al Munsell, the team ran up 8 points to the 7 of the visitors.

As the season neared an end and with the thought of last year's defeat in mind, our boys determined to beat North High. So for the twenty-eighth time East met North High in the annual football fray. In a game fiercely fought, very well played, and very exciting throughout, East defeated the Polar Bears by a score of 12-0.

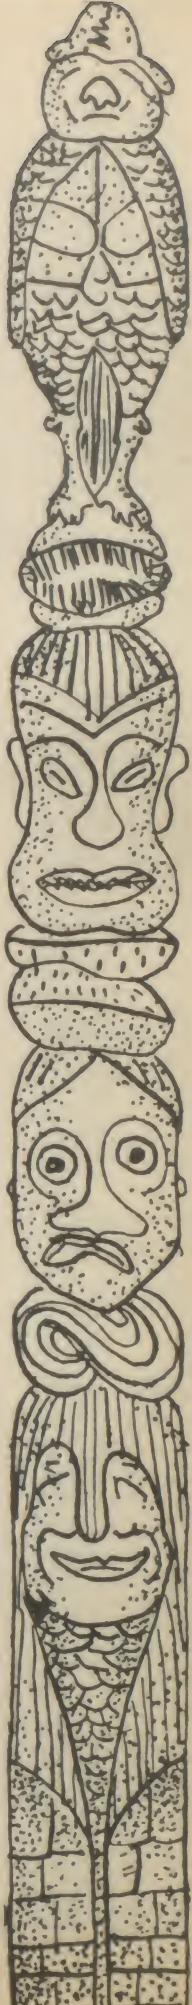

Once more the fine passing attack sponsoring Prince to McGlothlen clicked to net the Scarlet and Black players their two touchdowns. The boys from across the river put up a good battle, but it is certain that it would have taken more than North High had to offer to score on East that night. The fine defensive work of Krouse and Stewart and Prince's offensive were outstanding features of the game.

Hardin's ability to return punts was a feature of every game this season.

It is only right that here we take time to mention our coach "Mike Augustine," who took a team of boys, light and very inexperienced, and developed them into an aggregation of hard fighting players of whom any school would be proud to boast.

Though the beginning of the year looked mighty dismal for the scarlet and black, "Mike" and the boys did not let their school down.

But the entire success is by no means due solely to Mike or the boys but to the student body as a whole for their untiring support to a team that seemed to have the odds against them.

Cannon Fodder

The East High canaries, the cannon-fodder for the first team, are the unheralded heroes of our great football machine. They receive more than their share of punishment through their efforts to mold a varsity worthy of the honor of wearing the Scarlet and Black.

Besides their being of great help for the betterment of the varsity, they have a schedule of their own in which they play football of a caliber which would defeat the varsity teams of many of the high schools throughout the state. This season they played eight games, in which they won three, lost three, and tied two, counting three games which were not on the schedule at the beginning of the season.

As the season opened, the Canaries played Valley Junction in a hard fought battle which ended in a tie 6-6.

Meeting the next strong Ankeny varsity, they fought hard to the finish, only to lose to a better team, 21-0.

Coming back closer home, the subs met the Roosevelt seconds, taking a bitter defeat at the hands of our west-side enemies, 6-0.

Traveling south by west, the boys battled Lincoln to a scoreless tie.

Next they had the pleasure of bringing home their first victory by defeating the North subs, 7-0.

In three unscheduled practice games, the Canaries duplicated their defeat of North: eased out a victory over Valley Junction, 7-6; and lost to a team of Roosevelt ineligibles, 13-7.

The season uncovered many promising players who will help make up a good varsity for next season. Some of these promising players are: Dale Parker, Ed Shepard, Bob Shetterly, Art Wohlwend, Carroll McCann, Oscar Gates, Roe Williams, Tony Zagnoli, Verne Pratt, and William Gilhouse.

The Canaries have a very able coach in Mr. White, who works hard on the boys each year, but must be content to hand them over to the varsity after his hard work. He has much to do with the success of the first team each year, for a good start does much to insure good work in seasons to follow.

G. A. A.

The Girls' Athletic Association supervised by Miss Helen Spencer is an organization in which each girl is automatically made a member when she enters this school. However the G. A. A. doesn't require girls to participate in its activities, it just offers them an opportunity for the enjoyment of clean wholesome sport.

The purposes of the club are to promote interest in girls' athletics, to maintain clean sportsmanship, to help girls win monograms, and to teach them to become skilled in games so that they may enjoy them more.

The president of the club, Mirian Suwe, calls the club to order at meetings; the vice president, Mary Head, plans the programs and activities; the public secretary, Kathryn McClanahan, keeps the schedule on the club bulletin board up-to-date; the secretary-treasurer, Antonio Kruzick works with the president and vice president and collects assessments when necessary, and the recorder, Doris Pointer, records the points earned by the girls.

On September 10, the 10-B meeting was held at the gym to introduce the new arrivals to the officers and acquaint them with the club activities. 350 girls attended.

The physical education department sponsored a P. T. A. demonstration at the Coliseum, November 7, with 150 East High students taking part. One group of 50 girls danced a tap dance, "Loafin'", and a group of 50 boys put on a tumbling act. Another group of girls modeled bathing suits "Through the ages." Mr. Hostetter's golf enthusiasts demonstrated putting and other golfing skills.

Another P. T. A. show sponsored by the physical education department took place November 19. Some very clever tap dances were executed. Tumbling and readings were also on the program.

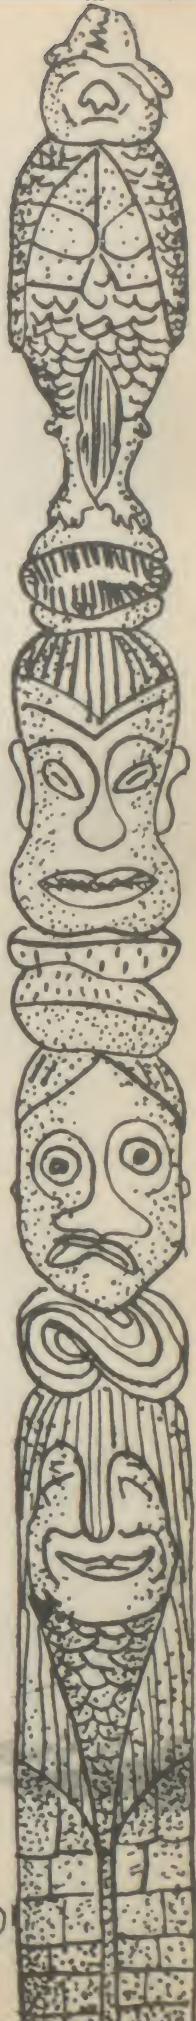

The monograms that every girl craves to own are earned through a point system. 300 points entitles one to a numeral, 500 points a monogram, and 1000 points a two ring monogram. There is no limit to the number of rings a girl may acquire. These points are obtained through participating in various girls' athletics.

Intramural swimming is held every Tuesday night under the leadership of Doris Lee, Jean Davis, and Mary Ellen Blades. Regular class swimming is instructed every Monday by Miss Helen Spencer and every Wednesday and Thursday by Scotty Russell. Life saving classes are held once a week under the direction of Miss Spencer. There are three different life saving badges available for the learning, Junior, Senior, and Masters.

Mr. Hostetter teaches golf every Thursday night to a lively group of girls who, under his guidance, are becoming excellent players. These girls can play on the regular city links and the best players are formed into a school team. The girls also take great interest in baseball and basketball. Baseball is the main G. A. A. sport during spring and fall, and during the winter, basketball is the customary sport.

Joe McG.: "Who is that handsome boy with the cropped head?"

Margaret: "That's my cousin, Betty."

J. M.: "And the blond man with the monocle?"

M.: "That's my youngest sister, Lee."

J.: (laughing but embarrassed) So I suppose the other young man in the dinner jacket is your oldest sister?"

M.: "No, that's my grandmother!"

The teacher of the rural school was having her troubles and at length wrote to the mother: "Georgie is the brightest boy in my room, but he is also the most mischievous. What shall I do with him?"

Back came this answer, "Don't ask me what you should do with Georgie; that's your business. I have my hands full trying to manage his father and two little brothers."

A young wife, wishing to announce the birth of her first child to a friend in a distant city, telegraphed:

"Isaiah 9: 6" Which passage begins, "For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given."

Her friend, not familiar with the scripture, said to her husband: "Margaret evidently has a boy who weighs 9 lbs. and 6 oz., but why on earth did the name him Isaiah?"

A pompous boy missed his silk handkerchief and accused an Irishman of stealing it. After some confusion the boy found the handkerchief in his pocket, and apologized for having accused the Irishman.

"Never mind at all," said Wayne Murphrey, "Ye thought I was a thafe, and I thought you was a gentleman, and we are both mistaken."

Al Munsell stood in the entrance to the cobbler's shop watching the man at work.

"What do you repair boots with, mister?" he suddenly asked.

"Hide," replied the cobbler sharply.

"E-r-r, eh?" asked Al.

"I said hide," replied the cobbler impatiently.

"What for?" Al insisted, somewhat surprised.

"Hide! The cow's outside," said the man.

"Don't care if it is. Who's afraid of a cow, anyway?" said Al defiantly.

EVERY day your life is made more convenient by Penn Automatic Electric Controls. Domestic electric refrigerators, the big walk-in coolers at your meat market, the oil burners, automatic stokers and gas heating plants in yours or some friend's home, the air compressors in service stations you patronize, the water system in a farm friend's home are all controlled by Penn Controls. Truly, Penn Electric Switch Co. is a Des Moines firm whose products are known and used the world over.

He was a stout man, with large, broad feet, and although several pairs of boots were shown to him he refused them.

"I must have square toes," he explained to the assistant.

The young man sighed. "But square toes are not stocked now, sir," he insisted. "Pointed toes are fashionable this season."

The stout man gave an angry stare. "That may be," he retorted, "but I happen to be wearing last season's feet."

A scientist says our ears are growing larger and our faces longer. No doubt in both cases it is due to broadcasting.
